

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. LIST OF BOOKS

RECOMMENDED FOR A

High School Classical Library

BY A COMMITTEE OF THE

MICHIGAN SCHOOLMASTERS' CLUB

EDITED BY

CLARENCE LINTON MEADER

Instructor of Latin in the University of Michigan

WITH AN INTRODUCTORY NOTE BY

FRANCIS W. KELSEY

SECOND EDITION, REVISED

PUBLISHED FOR THE COMMITTEE BY THE MACMILLAN COMPANY
NEW YORK

1897

NOTE TO THE FIRST EDITION

The Committee by whom the following list was selected, was appointed at the Spring Meeting of the Michigan Schoolmasters' Club, in March, 1894. (Cf. the Educational Review for June, 1894, p. 39). It consists of the following members: Clarence L. Meader, Instructor in Latin in the University of Michigan, Chairman; Professor B. L. D'Ooge, of the Michigan State Normal School, Ypsilanti; Principal E. C. Warriner, of the Battle Creek High School; Principal E. B. Sherman, of the Bay City High School.

Grateful acknowledgment of the Committee for much kind help in their work is due to Professors Kelsey, D'Ooge, Rolfe, and Drake, of the University of Michigan; Mr. Lawrence C. Hull, of Lawrenceville, N. J.; Mr. H. D. Sanders, Mr. H. F. De Cou, and Mr. George Rebec, of the University of Michigan; Professor Walter Miller, of Leland Stanford University; Professor Isaac B. Burgess, of Morgan Park, Ill.; Professor Alfred Gudeman, University of Pennsylvania; Professor Sidney G. Ashmore, Union College; Professor C. M. Moss, University of Illinois; Professor Walter Bridgman, Lake Forest University; Professor Charles Forster Smith, University of Wisconsin; Mr. W. W. Bishop, Northwestern University Academy, Evanston, Ill.; Professors S. J. Axtell and Samuel Brooks, of Kalamazoo College; Principal S. O. Hartwell, of the Kalamazoo High School; Mr. Charles B. Gleason, of Redlands, California; Mr. W. D. Baker, Battle Creek High School; Mr. F. M. Townsend, Superintendent of Schools, Marshall, and Principal Ralph Garwood, Marshall, Michigan.

ANN ARBOR, MICHIGAN, May, 1895.

Life (anonymous)

NOTE TO THE SECOND EDITION

The first edition of this List (3,000 copies), published by J. V. Sheehan and Company, of Ann Arbor, was exhausted in December, 1895. In response to an immediate demand a short revised list was published in the School Review for March, 1896 (pp. 149-157).

In the present edition the bibliographical details have been carefully revised, and the titles of several important books published in 1896-97 have been added. Thanks are due to Mr. F. H. Jordan, Assistant Librarian of the University of Michigan, for kind assistance in the work of revision and in the proof-reading; to Professor Kelsey for acceding to the request to write an introduction; and to The Macmillan Company for publishing the List in a form so convenient and attractive.

Gratifying evidence has come to hand that the previous Lists have been of real service to teachers in many schools. May this new edition be even more helpful in promoting the thorough and scholarly, at the same time broad and sympathetic study of the Classics!

ANN ARBOR, July, 1897.

INTRODUCTORY NOTE

The principles of selection which guided the Committee in making this "List of Books recommended for a High School Classical Library" were presented by the Chairman at the Classical Conference held in Ann Arbor in March, 1895, and were set forth at some length in the School Review for the following June (pp. 393-396).

- The past ten years have witnessed an amount of agitation in regard to educational matters that no one could have anticipated. In the various discussions concerning high school work one point has been specially prominent, that is the importance of maintaining a high standard of scholarship. The reports of committees, the pages of educational journals, and addresses at teachers' meetings in all parts of the country manifest an awakening to larger possibilities in the accomplishment of educational results in our high schools, and an increasing recognition of the necessity, not only of adequate preparation on the part of those who undertake to give instruction, but also of deliverance from the thralldom of routine teaching.

The classical teacher who goes out into school work with high ideals of scholarship and culture too often finds himself cut off from the use of an adequate library, and misses also the inspiring contact with those who are interested in the same field. He realizes that if he is to keep abreast of his work, and to make progress professionally, he must add to his attainments, and bring to his class-room the interest and didactic power that come from continual advancement in one's studies. He feels that Xenophon and the Greek poets, that Cæsar and Cicero and Virgil did not write chiefly in order to furnish to the youth of far-off ages complex and torturing exercises in parsing and composition; he believes that, while training in Latin and Greek involves the handling of forms with absolute accuracy and the acquiring of ability to read and translate with fidelity to the original and with correct expression, there is demanded also an interpretation of the Classics as literature, as history, in fine, as a manifestation of a civilization which must be grasped and interpreted in many phases if classical study is to contribute to our modern life the elevating influence of that which was best and greatest in the life of Greece and Rome. To do the kind of work that this implies, an adequate supply of books and illustrative material is needed for the use both of the instructor and of the student. To require our classical teachers, who are second to none in professional enthusiasm and devotion to their calling, to reach the standard now set before them without at the same time offering them the facilities which their work demands, is to ask them to make bricks without straw.

In many schools the topical studies conducted along with the reading of texts in the third and fourth years are a feature of prime importance in the classical work. But whether we have in mind the needs of the classes or the needs of the teacher in making preparation for the classroom, the following list of books will be found none too extensive for the use of a secondary school which desires to have the best work done in Latin and Greek. The various branches of classical philology are represented by the latest and best works; no book is mentioned the value of which has not been made clear by actual use or by careful examination. Expenditure of money for such a collection, whether it is kept in the school building or in the public library of the town, may be justified on the same grounds as the purchase of equipment for a laboratory; books are the laboratory material of the teacher of languages.

The cost of the entire collection, Mr. Meader informs me, is not far from $1,200. Probably few schools could expend that amount in the purchase of classical books at one time; but in most cases a sum ranging from fifty to two hundred dollars a year can be obtained for this purpose either by direct appropriation, or from the proceeds of entertainments, or by subscription; thus in a few years the whole can be secured. Most schools already have the nucleus of a classical library; if one were to start from the beginning, the first fifty dollars (allowing for the usual discount from list prices), might profitably be expended for the following books: Kiepert, Atlas Antiquus; Liddell and Scott, Greek-English Lexicon; Harpers' Latin Dictionary; Gow, Companion to School Classics; Schreiber, Atlas of Classical Antiquities; Harpers' Dictionary of Classical Literature and Antiquities; Jevons, Greek Literature; Cruttwell, Roman Literature; Curtius, History of Greece; Mommsen, History of Rome; Fowler, Julius Caesar; Strachan-Davidson, Cicero; Sellar, Roman Poets of the Augustan Age—Virgil; Jebb, Homer. After works of a general or encyclopædic character have been secured the order of purchase is subject to so great variation, on account of differences in individual taste and methods of instruction, that it is not worth while to make specific recommendations. The titles in the List are given with so much detail that the scope and character of each book can readily be seen.

Pausanias's Description of Greece

TRANSLATED WITH A COMMENTARY BY J. G. FRAZER, M.A., LL.D., (GLASGOW), FELLOW OF TRINITY COLLEGE, CAMBRIDGE.

THE WORK IS DIVIDED AS FOLLOWS:

- Vol. I.—Introduction. Translation. Critical Notes on the Greek text.
II.—Commentary on Book I (Attica).
III.—Commentary on Books II–V (Argolis, Laconia, Messenia, Elis I).
IV.—Commentary on Books VI–VIII (Elis II, Achaea, Arcadia).
V.—Commentary on Books IX, X (Boeotia, Phocis). Addenda.
VI.—Indices. Maps.

* * * The Volumes will not be sold separately.

IN this work, the fruit of not a few days of labour, my aim has been to give, first, a faithful and idiomatic rendering of Pausanias, and, second, a Commentary which shall illustrate his description of ancient Greece by the light of modern research. It is safe to say that for no Greek author have the illustrative materials been accumulated in such profusion as for Pausanias. Within the present century Greece has been explored by a succession of scholarly travellers, many of its most important sites have been excavated, its buildings measured and described, its artistic treasures collected, compared, and criticized. The many-sided results of these researches are dispersed and too often buried in a motley multitude of publications—in learned journals and the proceedings and transactions of Societies, Academies, and Institutions, as well as in an almost endless array of separate books and pamphlets. To collect from these multifarious sources the scattered rays of light and to concentrate them on Pausanias or rather on his subject, ancient Greece, has been one of my chief objects in writing the Commentary. My general purpose has been to present a fairly complete picture of ancient Greece, its monuments and its scenery, so far as that can be done from a study of the descriptions of classical authors, the existing remains of antiquity, and the appearance of the country at the present day. The better to fit myself for the task I had set myself, I have paid two visits, each of nearly three months, have travelled in all the provinces except Locris and seen most of the chief sites described by Pausanias. I have thus been able to describe much of the scenery and many of the ruins at first hand and to supplement on certain points the accounts of former travellers, especially in some of the more rarely visited parts of Arcadia, Boeotia, and Phocis. Lastly I have attempted occasionally to illustrate Pausanias's references to Greek myths and religion by adducing parallels from the religion and folklore of other peoples; but I have kept this side of the subject in strict subordination to the topographical and archaeological, and I have seldom been tempted to launch out on the wide and troubled sea of mythological speculation. * * *

But while I have aimed at producing a book which shall meet the requirements of scholars, I have tried at the same time, without any sacrifice of accuracy, to make it intelligible to all educated readers, whether they are classical scholars or not. For it seemed to me that every educated person must have some interest in picturing to himself how ancient Greece, the mother of so much of our modern civilization, may have looked, if not in the meridian splendour, at least in the peaceful evenings of her days, while she was still rich in the artistic treasures of the past and had not yet been stripped of her glories and left ruined and bare by the ravages of barbarians and the still more destructive fanaticism of a new religion. Hence I have been at pains to write as simply and clearly as I could, to avoid all unnecessary technicalities, and to give all quotations from Greek and other foreign languages in English.

NOTE.

This committee, by whom the following list was selected, was appointed at the Spring Meeting of the Michigan Schoolmasters' Club in March, 1894. It consists of the following members: Mr. Clarence L. Meader, Instructor in Latin in the University of Michigan, No. 9 East University Avenue, Ann Arbor, Michigan, chairman; Prof. B. L. D'Ooge, of the Michigan State Normal School, Ypsilanti, Mich.; Principal E. C. Warriner, of the Battle Creek High School; Principal E. B. Sherman, of the Bay City High School.

Grateful acknowledgment of the committee for much kind help in their work is due to Professors F. W. Kelsey, M. L. D'Ooge, J. C. Rolfe, and Assistant Professor J. H. Drake, of the University of Michigan; Mr. Lawrence C. Hull, of Lawrenceville, N. J.; Mr. H. D. Sanders, Mr. H. F. DeCou, and Mr. George Rebec, of the University of Michigan; Professor Walter Miller, of Leland Stanford, Jr., University; Mr. Isaac B. Burgess, of Morgan Park, Ill.; Professor Alfred Gudeman, University of Pennsylvania; Professor Sidney G. Ashmore, Union College; Professor C. M. Moss, University of Illinois; Professor Walter Bridgman, Lake Forest, Ill.; Professor Charles Forster Smith, University of Wisconsin; Mr. W. W. Bishop, Northwestern University Academy, Evanston, Ill.; Professors S. J. Axtell and Samuel Brooks, of Kalamazoo College; Principal J. O. Hartwell, of the Kalamazoo High School; Mr. Charles B. Gleason, of Redlands, California; Mr. W. D. Baker, Battle Creek High School; Mr. F. W. Townsend, Superintendent of Schools, Marshall, Mich., and Principal Ralph Garwood, Marshall, Mich.

The thanks of the committee are also due to Mr. John V. Sheehan for his kind interest in providing for the publication of the list.

The following abbreviations are to be noted: f., folio; b., bound (all German publications not so marked are sold unbound); tr., translated or translated by; Gk., Greek; Lat., Latin; M., Mark or Marks, 25c; R., Roman; B., Boston; Leip., Leipzig; L., London.

The abbreviations Crit. ap., Eng. notes or Ger. notes, following the name of an editor in sections III., a, B. and III., b, B. indicate that the editions cited are provided with a critical apparatus, English notes or German notes respectively. Editions not so marked are either simple text editions or have brief critical notes.

CARD.

Messrs. Sheehan & Co., Ann Arbor, Michigan, beg to inform teachers and school boards that they keep in stock, not only the books of the inclosed list, but also a full line of college and high school text books. French and German books are imported direct. They have also a full line of athletic and gymnasium goods, suitable for college and high school students.

Those who receive this list are requested to read the "Report of the Committee on the High School Classical Library" given at the Classical Conference in March, 1895, and published in The School Review for June. (Copies may be obtained by remitting 20 cents to Principal C. H. Thurber, Colgate Academy, Hamilton, New York.) The principles of selection are there stated.

N. B.—The double asterisk () is prefixed to the titles of books which should be found on the shelves of EVERY high school classical library. Books which are somewhat less essential are indicated by the single asterisk. The purchase of the entire list is strongly recommended.

American Book Company.

NEW BOOKS of this Company are notable for the variety, and in some instances for the novelty of the subjects treated, as well as for the ripe scholarship, professional skill, and school experience that have been employed in their production. They are evidence of the Company's well known policy of keeping abreast of the times and in touch with the best educational thought of the day.

The Company issues the leading American textbooks for Common Schools, High Schools, and College Preparatory Schools, books that are in satisfactory use in nearly every country and city school, public and private, in the United States. They possess those subtle, indefinable qualities which cause school books to wear well. By careful revision whenever necessary these books are kept constantly fresh and up to date, so that practically they are new books, with the advantage of having stood the test of use.

Orders by mail receive prompt and careful attention; a convenience appreciated by purchasers.

A Bulletin of New Books is sent free on request. Address American Book Company, New York, Cincinnati, Chicago, Boston, or Portland, Ore., whichever is nearest.

"The series is doing an immense service to the reading public and to the cause of history in bringing forth adequate though brief records of the lives of eminent men of whom the general knowledge has become vague, erroneous, or traditional."—New York Times.

Prof. Goldwin Smith, speaking of the series of American Statesmen in The Nineteenth Century, says: "It seems to us a very valuable series. It furnishes a history of American politics in the attractive and impressive form of biography."

"The volumes known as the 'American Statesmen' series had a just raison d'être; for the biography of our past political leaders compels or induces a study of the times in which they acted, the forces with which they dealt, and the public measures of importance on which their influence was felt."—The New Englander, (New Haven).

"Every young American ought to read, and if possible own, this valuable political library."—The Critic, (New York.)

A Dictionary of Classical Antiquities

Mythology, Religion, Literature and Art.

From the German of Dr. Oskar Seyffert.

With more than 450 illustrations. Third edition with much additional matter. Imperial 800 Cloth, 716 pages. Price $3.00 net.

COMMENT OF THE PRESS.

"In the new and revised edition of Dr. Seyffert's Dictionary English readers are offered what is probably the most useful single-volume work upon the subject of Classical Antiquities to be had. The present edition has been edited by Dr. Sandys and brought sufficiently to date to include the latest discoveries and theories. The articles Comitia, Music, and Theatre are examples of the incorporation of new matter."—The Dial.
